BusinessWeek is an indispensable resource for leaders around the globe. The international business community looks to us for the BusinessWeek perspective to help them move forward in their businesses, careers, and investments. We engage influential decision makers and elite business leaders worldwide, providing indispensable global news and information where they do business.

In the October 12 issue, our editors will write a report dedicated to the business climate in Turkey. In this editorial report, we will explore the future of Turkey's economy and business environment, with facts and insights into Turkey's competitive position, its openness to trade and to the presence of outside investors and business partners, its commitment to the rule of law and to the protection of intellectual property, and – most of all – its potential for growth. The report will feature articles and graphics that shed light on these themes.
