EMERGING MARKET REPORTS

Reach business decision makers looking for new opportunities around the globe. Emerging Market Reports examine the risks and opportunities associated with developing economies in uncertain environments.

In such circumstances, politics are at least as important as economics. Our reports look at the forces guiding these environments toward stability, as well as those that threaten to derail progress and cripple business.

Connect with leaders worldwide who seek guidance in moving their companies and investments forward with these insightful reports.

The screenshot displays the BusinessWeek website interface. At the top, the BusinessWeek logo is prominent. Below it, a navigation bar includes links for HOME, INVESTING, COMPANIES, TECHNOLOGY, INNOVATION, MANAGING, SMALL BIZ, B-SCHOOLS, ASIA, EUROPE, LIFESTYLE, and MAGAZINE. The main content area features an article titled "The New Silk Road" with a sub-headline: "Historic bonds between the Middle East and Asia are being revitalized in a torrent of trade and investment in energy, infrastructure, and manufacturing." The article includes a photograph of a man in a white thobe and ghutra standing in a market. Below the photo, the byline reads "By Stanley Reed, Dexter Roberts and Nandini Lakshman". To the right of the article, there is a sidebar with a "Business Exchange" section, which includes a "Featured" tab and a "Google" search bar. Below the sidebar, there is a large graphic for the "EMERGING MARKET REPORT" featuring various images related to the report's theme, including a man in a thobe, a woman in a headscarf, and a silhouette of a person holding a fan.
